  - Reports that have been approved for publication, as well as unpublished reports and personal correspondence, should not be included in the reference list, but should be mentioned in the document.
  - Avoid quoting a "personal communication" unless it contains vital details that cannot be found elsewhere; in that case, the name of the individual and the date of communication should be quoted in parentheses in the document.

  - The term "in Publisher" can be used to refer to an unpublished finding that has been approved for publishing in any journal.
